This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. PREFACE

MORE than twenty years have passed since I first proposed to myself the publication of a volume on national bibliography, and ever since then I have made some desultory collections on the subject. About four years ago it became the occupation of my life, and the enterprise has been prosecuted from that time without intermission. It was originally intended to confine the subject to the literature of our own land, but I had hardly entered upon my task before it became obvious that the undertaking ought to be extended to a selection from the literature of other countries. Many of the best volumes on the writers of our land have been produced abroad, and many Englishmen have won distinction by their works on the literature of foreign nations. Shakespeare has found a host of students in all the countries of Europe. One of the best books on Burns is by Angellier. The chief life of Thomson is by L. Morel, and the volume of W. Thomas on Young is not likely to be superseded. Barbeau has produced an admirable bibliography on the literature connected with Bath, and the studies of Taine and Jusserand on our national literature have been received with deserved appreciation. Englishmen and Americans, on the other hand, have paid increased attention to the writers whose fame is connected with other lands. The mention of Dante and Goethe brings to mind at once the students of their works who have flourished in the English-speaking nations on either side of the Atlantic; and many excellent histories of the literature of several European countries have been written by Englishmen or their descendants in America.

My principal guide in foreign bibliography has been the volume of Henri Stein, entitled Manuel de bibliographie générale. His pages have been criticised with asperity by some bibliographers, and flaws may be discovered in them, as in all other bibliographies, for perfection in such labours is beyond the reach of man; but the utility of his collections, especially for the literature of Slavonic countries, cannot be over-estimated. With the expansion of my plan, it became necessary, in order to bring them within reasonable dimensions, to impose limits upon my labours. With this object in view, sale-catalogues, bibliographies of manuscripts, maps and charts, and catalogues of the free libraries which have sprung up throughout England during the last decade or two have in most cases been omitted. For special bibliography the student must in some instances still seek elsewhere. The details of the works and papers dealing with geology which are to be found in the pages of these volumes should be supplemented by reference to the exhaustive catalogue of Margerie, and the bibliography of the literature of India cannot be completed unless the works of F. B. F. Campbell are consulted.

Nor should I neglect to mention the admirable bibliographies which have been compiled for Italy, Sweden and other countries.

When I was on the point of beginning to print my collections, Mr. G. L. Apperson, of Merton, very kindly handed to me the notes which he had made on English bibliography, and a few months after I had started Mr. R. A. Peddie, of the St. Bride Foundation, one of our leading authorities on the history of printing conferred a like favour upon me. During the last four years I have been assisted at various times by Mr. E. A. Dunn, Mr. J. H. Freese, and Miss Evelyn Fox, and for the aid which they have given me I am deeply grateful. The officials at the British Museum have ungrudgingly responded to requests for information which must often have wearied through importunity. Mr. C. W. Sutton, the librarian of the Manchester Free Library, has zealously aided me with respect to the publications of that city, while Mr. W. Dawson Johnston, of the Library of Congress Washington, has eagerly answered all my inquiries on the literature of America The duty of compiling the index was undertaken by Mr. Edward Smith, author of William Cobbett, a Biography, and of other works, and a glance at its pages will show the onerous task which he has fulfilled.

The printing of these volumes has occupied the last two years, and with their variety of languages and abundance of names must often have proved a severe strain upon the energies of the compositors. The work is now handed to the public with the hope that it may prove of general utility.
